

Prepare to sell part or all of your business

How to navigate the key issues as you approach the sale of your business.

Am I receiving the right independent tax and legal advice in relation to my personal affairs well in advance of selling my business?

Have I reviewed my and (where relevant) my family's shareholding in the business to ensure it is held optimally?

Does my interest in the business qualify for any tax reliefs and how do they apply?

Will my estate or inheritance tax position change when we sell our shares in the business?

Have I and the rest of my family put in place wills and lasting powers of attorney?

Does my family need liquidity between now and when we sell the business?

How will this financially transformational event impact my family? Do I need to have a conversation with them in advance?

Prepare for life after selling your business

Some important things to think about for your future, after the sale of your business.

How much liquidity do I and my family need in the short and medium term?

What are my short-, medium- and longer-term goals and aspirations for using our new wealth?

What are the lifestyle choices we want to make? Where do we want to live?

How should we hold the wealth and any future investments?

How do I protect the family's assets from the risk of divorce?

I am not an investment specialist. How should I prepare to make my first investment outside the business?

How much estate/inheritance tax will be due when I die? Is there anything I could do about that?

Do I want to give wealth to my wider family? Should I do it now or later? Are there causes we care about we would like to give to?

Are there ways to structure my wealth so I can retain control over the assets while giving it away to the next generation?

Is our family philanthropic? What kind of an impact do we want to make in the world? Could philanthropy be an effective way to involve the next generation in our family wealth in the future and how should we effect and structure our giving?

IMPORTANT INFORMATION ABOUT YOUR INVESTMENTS AND POTENTIAL CONFLICTS OF INTEREST

Conflicts of interest will arise whenever JPMorgan Chase Bank, N.A. or any of its affiliates (together, "J.P. Morgan") have an actual or perceived economic or other incentive in its management of our clients' portfolios to act in a way that benefits J.P. Morgan. Conflicts will result, for example (to the extent the following activities are permitted in your account): (1) when J.P. Morgan invests in an investment product, such as a mutual fund, structured product, separately managed account or hedge fund issued or managed by JPMorgan Chase Bank, N.A. or an affiliate, such as J.P. Morgan Investment Management Inc.; (2) when a J.P. Morgan entity obtains services, including trade execution and trade clearing, from an affiliate; (3) when J.P. Morgan receives payment as a result of purchasing an investment product for a client's account; or (4) when J.P. Morgan receives payment for providing services (including shareholder servicing, recordkeeping or custody) with respect to investment products purchased for a client's portfolio. Other conflicts will result because of relationships that J.P. Morgan has with other clients or when J.P. Morgan acts for its own account.

Investment strategies are selected from both J.P. Morgan and third-party asset managers and are subject to a review process by our manager research teams. From this pool of strategies, our portfolio construction teams select those strategies we believe fit our asset allocation goals and forward looking views in order to meet the portfolio's investment objective.

As a general matter, we prefer J.P. Morgan managed strategies. We expect the proportion of J.P. Morgan managed strategies will be high (in fact, up to 100 percent) in strategies such as, for example, cash and high-quality fixed income, subject to applicable law and any account-specific considerations.

While our internally managed strategies generally align well with our forward-looking views, and we are familiar with the investment processes as well as the risk and compliance philosophy of the firm, it is important to note that J.P. Morgan receives more overall fees when internally managed strategies are included. We offer the option of choosing to exclude J.P. Morgan managed strategies (other than cash and liquidity products) in certain portfolios.

The Six Circles Funds are U.S.-registered mutual funds managed by J.P. Morgan and sub-advised by third parties. Although considered internally managed strategies, JPMC does not retain a fee for fund management or other fund services.
