As head of J.P. Morgan Private Bank in Baltimore, Scott Canuel is dedicated to providing comprehensive wealth management strategies to help clients achieve their goals. With deep roots in Maryland, he spent 23 years in the financial services industry before joining J.P. Morgan to help establish and lead the Private Bank in Baltimore. To best address each client's needs, Scott prioritizes building relationships and learning about their unique intent for their wealth and legacy, and takes pride in the customized wealth management insight delivered by the Private Bank, which was named 2021's "Best Private Bank in the World" by Global Finance magazine. When not guiding clients, Scott is both an avid scuba diver and active member of his community. Scott serves on the boards of the Ronald McDonald House and University of Maryland Baltimore. He is also the Chairperson of the Mount Saint Joseph High School Board.
