

Business Leaders of Raleigh-Durham

Leading their team of financial advisors at J.P. Morgan Private Bank, Vice Presidents Ryan Cosola and Nathan Dnistran know they have plenty of credentials to help their clients navigate through almost anything. Their team serves individuals, families, foundations, and endowments throughout the Raleigh-Durham area, and they have a deep bench packed with powerful wealth management strategies to assist.

“We bring the vast resources of J.P. Morgan to our local area,” says Vice President Nathan Dnistran. “What really sets us apart for our clients, however, is the focus we have in the technology and life sciences sectors. This knowledge plays a key role in helping our clients position themselves for growth.”

And while that local knowledge is an incredible strength, Vice President Ryan Cosola is quick to point out that their team’s experience doesn’t stop there.

“We have a global team of professionals,” says Ryan. “There’s not much that we haven’t navigated, and that is really critical to helping our clients succeed. Beyond our knowledge, we really value time. We get to know our clients, and we grow our company based on what our clients need. They know they can come to us for anything, from business to personal, and even more, then know we’ve got the experience to help them.”
